NEW PARIS EXHIBITION · CHANCELLOR TAKES A REST · SCOUTS IN CAMP

This Year's Paris Exhibition—While Londoners are again enjoying the sights of Wembley Paris is holding a great exhibition devoted to the decorative arts. The exhibition stands in the centre of Paris, and, as this view shows, is among beautiful surroundings

Sailing Begins on the Thames—The summer sailing season has already begun in earnest on the Thames, and here we see a number of boats competing in one of the Thames Club's races at Teddington. The weather on this occasion was ideal for the competitors

Solving a Transport Problem—This huge boiler, weighing nearly 40 tons, has been lowered into the Clyde and is being towed to a shipyard. The Glasgow firm who built it find it easier to ship the great boiler in this way than to send it by road

The Chancellor Takes a Rest—Mr. Winston Churchill, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, has been having a very busy time lately preparing the nation's Budget and meeting its critics in the House of Commons. In this picture we see him enjoying a well-earned week-end rest at his home at Westerham, in Kent, in company with his wife and little daughter. See page 4

The Scout's Camping Season—With the coming of warmer weather Boy Scouts have in many parts of the country been going into camp again. This merry party from a North London troop are, as can be seen, having good fun in their Hertfordshire camp

Stripes and Squares at the Zoo—The zebras at the London Zoo are remarkably tame and seem to be making fast friends with this lady visitor. Her coat of black and white squares is a striking contrast to the clearly-marked stripes of these handsome animals

A New Aeroplane—Many airmen who flew in the Great War now take a short course of instruction each year to keep them in practice. Here a lesson is in progress at Brough Aerodrome, Yorkshire, with the new Blackburne-Napier machine that has very large floats
